

WHY DO THE UCT LAW@WORK COMMERCIAL MEDIATION COURSE?

1. Your qualification entitles you to a certificate from Africa's number one university, the University of Cape Town.
2. The course entitles you to participate in the Department of Justice's court-annexed mediation programme. One of the course's presenters, Professor Paleker of UCT is a leading member of the Department of Justice's Mediation Advisory Committee.
3. The course is accredited by DISAC, the Dispute Settlement Accreditation Council.
4. For what it has to offer the course is the most reasonably priced in the market, costing between R 7000.00 and R 10 000.00 less than other similar mediation courses.
5. The main presenters, advocates Jacques Joubert and Alan Nelson (SC) are amongst the most experienced commercial mediators working in South Africa today and together also have vast experience in commercial litigation.
6. As a first in South Africa the course material, including anonymised case studies, emanate from the real world mediation practices of South African commercial mediators.
7. As another first the course helps delegates to have difficult conversations and manage diversity in a post-apartheid South Africa.
8. The course adheres to international best practice of 5 days and 40 hours for commercial mediation courses, and is highly practical in nature.
9. Hear what delegates who attended the course has to say about the UCT course:

John Bromley of Fairbridges, one of South Africa's leading law firms:

"For me it was an intense, challenging, exhausting, paradigm changing and stimulating experience."

Fred Jacobs, immediate past President of Cape Chamber of Commerce:

"The course offers a vista of opportunities for the mediation process to play a value-adding role to dispute resolution in the private sector. This long-awaited, cost-effective intervention must be enthusiastically and passionately embraced by all corporates."
